Keynote Address: Teaching to Attain the Assessments You’d Like to See

This keynote addresses how best to help students achieve your learning outcomes for them and therefore perform well on your assessments. It will enable you to explain the appropriate relationships among student learning outcomes, assessments, and teaching methods, and then design and implement a well-aligned course. You will also learn how to select, adapt, and design teaching methods—that is, your students' learning experiences—that, according to research, are among the most effective tools for preparing your students to achieve your outcomes for them. These methods will also provide you and your students with valuable formative feedback.

Biography:

In addition, Dr. Nilson co-edited Enhancing Learning with Laptops in the Classroom (Jossey-Bass, 2005) and Volumes 25 through 28 of To Improve the Academy: Resources for Faculty, Instructional, and Organizational Development (Anker/Jossey-Bass, 2007-2010) which is the major publication of the Professional and Organizational Development (POD) Network in Higher Education. She has also published many articles and book chapters and has given over 450 keynotes, webinars, and live workshops at conferences, colleges, and universities both nationally and internationally on dozens of topics related to college teaching and scholarly productivity.

Dr. Nilson’s career as a full-time faculty development director spanned over 25 years. Before coming to Clemson University, she directed teaching centers at Vanderbilt University and the University of California, Riverside and was a sociology professor at UCLA, where she entered the area of educational development. After distinguishing herself as an excellent instructor, her department selected her to establish and supervise its Teaching Assistant Training Program. In sociology, her research focused on occupations and work, social stratification, political sociology, and disaster behavior.

Dr. Nilson has held leadership positions in the POD Network, Toastmasters International, Mensa, and the Southern Regional Faculty and Instructional Development Consortium. She was a National Science Foundation Fellow at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, where she received her Ph.D. and M.S. degrees in sociology. She completed her undergraduate work in three years at the University of California, Berkeley, where she was elected to Phi Beta Kappa.
